

Jonathan Woolley (31/01/1944- )

Retired Chartered Accountant. Having passed O and A level art in `59 and `61 barely lifted a paintbrush until around 2006 when moved to Burtersett. Joined the West Burton Art Group and started dabbling again. First in watercolour, then some years on rediscovered a small oil painting box I had at school. All the tiny tubes were persuaded to open and I had a go with them. Frankly I think I managed better with that medium and carried on with it. A keen photographer for 40 years I usually paint from my own pictures. Always had loved the Impressionists and lately became very interested in the Scottish Colorists and Fauvist styles and attempt to emulate them presently.
