

I am a beginner in the art of oil painting having joined a very small art group in our village in September 2018. We spend our Thursday mornings chatting and drinking coffee whilst putting the world to rights and occasionally putting a bit of paint on a canvas! The challenge is always to paint during the week at home so that I have something to take back to the group for the next meeting!